

Tomii Academy fact sheet (the 4-page short version)

"Real Wealth is Much More than Just Money."

Tomii Academy has been a fifteen year labor of love for its founder, John Kim. After graduating from an Ivy League university and then proceeding to earn two Master degrees, including an MBA with a concentration in finance, Mr. Kim then sought and attained employment with the Wall Street firm Smith Barney in Beverly Hills, California and also worked as a Private Banker for one of the biggest banks in Western America. However, despite Establishment perks such as access to box suites for LA Lakers games, world title boxing matches, and regular fine dining excursions in Beverly Hills, Mr. Kim felt hollow and unfulfilled, especially after learning of the extremely low to zero utility of his “education” in the real world and the lack of fit of his own personal definition of success with society’s extremely narrow definition of material wealth and/or fame.

Tomii Academy is the culmination of a fifteen year painstaking journey of sweat equity that involved many sleepless nights and consists of 20 courses, 190 lessons, 65 real world exercise, 4,000+ pages of coursework and more than 150 hours of audio files. We’ve all heard the mantra that knowledge is power, but this saying is not entirely accurate. The Hagakure, an ancient text written in the early 1700s in Japan about the way of the warrior, states, “Having wisdom and talent is the lowest tier of usefulness.” Though many people may be confused by this statement, it merely means that wisdom and talent without direction and purpose is useless, much like knowledge without application is useless. Institutional academia today imparts much knowledge of low utility and this is the reason many, in 2024, have foregone the excessive $234,000 cost of a Harvard MBA (a cost that would be even higher without the assumption of a “moderate student lifestyle”) and other bloated MBA tuition fees for better educational pathways of far greater utility and applied knowledge.

Thus, after just a few years in the upper echelons of the corporate finance world, Mr. Kim dropped out of the corporate life in search of answers, which he found during his fifteen year journey in creating Tomii Academy. Mr. Kim realized the need to:

- (1) Teach critical thinking;
- (2) Return education to high-value applied knowledge versus no value theoretical knowledge that pervades all global business school curricula today; and
- (3) Help lead lost souls that attain fortune and fame without any meaning in their lives back to their own personalized definition of success capable of yielding sustainable, lifelong happiness and peace.

Consequently, even though Tomii Academy is a wealth building academy that includes critical coursework lacking from every MBA program in the world, including how to properly evaluate gold and silver assets to build wealth and how to avoid investment pitfalls based upon fraudulent knowledge disseminated by the most popular finance YouTubers, like government issued key economic indicators that do not reflect economic reality, Mr. Kim also created two critical courses that will improve every individual's level of critical thinking and help people develop their own personal definition of success that provides purpose and meaning to every life.

Furthermore, though Mr. Kim designed all of Tomii Academy's courses to be completed through self-study without an active teacher, Mr. Kim created 65 exercises throughout his Academy courses to enable every client to use the real world as his or her learning environment to further teach all clients how to incorporate the knowledge of Tomii Academy to create a better life. To discover which specific exercises contain these exercises, merely read our curricula available on our home page that contains a detailed description of every course.

On the next page, you will find the yields returned of every single investment pick, not just the winning ones, of which I provided an exact buy price and sell price in 2022 on my Substack newsletter, using the applied knowledge contained in my Academy courses. I will update this fact sheet with the yields returned of my 2023 picks in this fact sheet as well, later this year, when all picks are finally closed out in 2024, as the yields of these picks are still ongoing in 2024. I provided the below chart to illustrate the real world applicability of the knowledge contained in my courses.

Mr. Kim developed the courses in Tomii Academy to solve the following three key societal problems that pervades society today:

- (1) The loss of wide and comprehensive life perspectives due to societal conditioning and false paradigms taught in academia and in social media;
- (2) The importance of questioning authority and the limitations of traditional education on the creation of a happy, wealthy life; and
- (3) The critical need for a holistic approach to success and wealth.

Furthermore, due to the depth of his cultural and life experiences, including substantial periods of time spent living in five different nations, Mr. Kim realized that different individuals require different approaches to achieve their goals and that the cookie cutter framework applied in institutional academia often fails to assist millions of young adults in achieving their dreams. This cookie cutter framework is the very reason why so many graduates of “elite” universities around the world seem to be mirror images of one another today. Thus, Mr. Kim spent years developing applied exercises to ensure that the knowledge dispensed in Tomii Academy to improve each participant’s quality of life recognizes the differences among us and encourages each client to pursue the path most optimal to him and her to achieve the end goals of each exercise.

Our world today, more than during any other period of time in our lifetime, demands a need to redefine personal definitions of wealth and success beyond material and monetary gain, and to encourage among all the traits of compassion, friendship, health, happiness, and service to others. We hope you start your journey with Tomii Academy to create a positive, much more fulfilling life than you ever believed to be possible. You may access the entire curriculum at this link for a detailed description of all Tomii Academy courses and access this link for a much more comprehensive fact sheet than this one that describes the philosophical foundation and aspirations of Mr. Kim's Tomii Academy.

Please note that all courses are self-study courses without an active instructor. However, also please note that Mr. Kim, the founder of Tomii Academy, devoted more than 10,000 hours over the course of 15 years of his life to ensure that valuable learning could be achieved through the self-study model implemented in his Academy.

About Tomii Academy CEO John Kim

John Kim is an Ivy League (University of Pennsylvania), double Master degree graduate (MBA, MPaff) and a financial analyst for 15+ years whose work has been featured by Reuters, the Wall Street journal, the UK Financial Times, the New York Times, the Washington Post, GATA, ZeroHedge and many more. After his postgraduate work, Mr. Kim secured employment as a Private Banker with one of the largest banks in America and also with a Wall Street firm in the highest profit margin office in the nation in Beverly Hills, California. After his employment left him deeply unsatisfied in his journey to find purpose and meaning in life, despite the corporate perks and salaries, Mr. Kim quit the corporate life to begin an entrepreneurial life that launched a fifteen year journey to create Tomii Academy. This journey became a labor of relentless work and love in Mr. Kim's quest to build a wealth building academy unlike any other in the world. Mr. Kim vowed that his Academy would not focus on the low utility business school theories he had learned during his MBA studies, but on applied knowledge, and that he would not incorporate useless exams that tested regurgitation of memorized knowledge but develop real world exercises that would show students how to apply Tomii Academy's knowledge in the real world to build wealth.

However, as Mr. Kim quit the corporate investment world because of his disgust in witnessing low morals and the relentless exploitation of the innocent and naïve during his time spent in the higher echelons of the Industry, he also vowed to incorporate crucial elements in his Academy that would ensure that those that graduated from his Academy would not become the soulless, morally directionless he witnessed in abundance during his corporate career. To this end, Mr. Kim developed a course about success that would steer people away from the secular, material focused definition of success that pervades social media channels and leads to a hollow, meaningless life towards an intimately personal definition of success customized around a discovery of the aspects in life that brings each individual meaning and joy. Furthermore, as Mr. Kim's meticulous research of the historicity of institutional academia confirmed his beliefs that critical thinking skills were systemically stripped out of the academic system to suppress one of the most important aspects of education – critical thought – he developed a course designed to restore in everyone the necessary critical thinking skills to not fall victim to the constant propaganda distributed by the Industry that prevents people from learning a proper framework to build wealth.

Mr. John Kim is highly regarded for his analysis of gold and silver markets and well-known Precious Metals billionaire Eric Sprott has praised Mr. Kim's gold market analysis in the past for his accurate analysis of gold and silver price anomalies.

Eric Sprott: Well, Tekoa, it has been very frustrating over the last four years with all the world and financial events we've witnessed. I have tended to suggest that gold should be a safe haven. I saw a great podcast by a fellow named JS Kim who noted that we've had these 6-7 standard deviation moves in lots of things like the US stock market, currencies, gold, and these things happen once every 333 million lifetimes, and yet we've experienced all these. He further noted that the central banks want things to happen the way they want them to happen so that people believe they have control of things. Certainly Rick, John Embry and myself have always believed that there is a mandate to keep precious metal prices low.

The only thing that needs correction in the above is that Mr. Sprott misquoted Mr. Kim in stating "333 million lifetimes", a figure that Mr. Kim calculated to be "33 million lifetimes." And despite this article being a few years old now, as we witnessed Central Bankers denigrate gold and silver as poor investments to start 2024 and the Industry praise BTC as a wonderful investment, with gold and silver's significant rise in price in Q1 2024, the critical importance of Mr. Kim's above analysis should be self-evident by now. Above, Mr. Sprott relayed Mr. Kim's warning of the methodology Central Bankers use to deceive the world about the importance of holding physical gold and silver in one's portfolio by their creation of artificial temporary downward price manipulations in gold and silver prices, exactly like the type they created during Chinese New Years 2024. However, gold and silver's very strong performance in Q1 2024 served as a perfect example of how Central Bankers try to chase the naïve out of markets before they will allow them to rise significantly and how a lack of understanding of these issues will lead to poor investment decisions time and time again.

In 2023, Mr. Kim's calls on when to buy and sell BTC, as well as his weekly gold and silver price analysis delivered to his patrons on the patreon platform and his call to short AMC stock on his substack platform before it immediately crashed 70% in share price are just a couple of examples of the necessity to separate propaganda from fact when making critical investment decisions. As well, every single buy and sell call Mr. Kim has provided for BTC since late 2020 until today would have grown an initial $100,000 investment into $660,000. Mr. Kim accrued a loyal following on social media, racking up more than 13M views on his former YouTube channel, before constant shadowbanning and demonetization forced him offline and committed to completing Tomii Academy. Whereas Google, the owner of YouTube, could relentlessly censor his YouTube channel and prevent Mr. Kim for speaking truth to power, no one can censor the truth Mr. Kim wishes to bring to the world through the launch of Tomii Academy.

Mr. Kim has gained a reputation for scooping critical investment and financial events often weeks and months before even the largest financial sites in the world report on them, and his unique perspectives and different outlooks on some of the biggest financial stories have garnered his articles millions of reads. Mr. Kim discussed banker gold and silver price manipulation decades before the mainstream was willing to broach this subject, called the US stock market crash in 2008, the exact price top of BTC in 2017, the exact price bottom of BTC in July 2021, another BTC price top again in November 2021, the silver price top in 2021 at $30 and much more! Now, with the launch of Tomii Academy, you can learn the knowledge Mr. Kim uses to make top investing calls that yield large gains year after year.
